

TTS Training Programme

Customer Advantages

TTS

A MacGregor Company

Introduction

Personnel training is becoming an increasingly critical factor in the safe and efficient running of a business. And nowhere is this more important than the marine and offshore industry. Good training practices can make a significant difference to prolonging your equipment's lifetime, through right usage and maintenance, plus it can help to reduce unexpected costs.

TTS is recognised around the globe for delivering exceptional service support to customers wanting to optimise the performance of their equipment. To further meet our customer's requirements, we have now introduced comprehensive training programmes for businesses operating all types of onboard marine equipment.

There are a wide range of programmes available, including Operator Training, Train the Trainer, Maintenance for Cranes and Davits, Winches, RoRo, Hatch Covers... and much more. Each course can be customised to meet your needs precisely and all training is supported with TTS Course Certificates.

E-learning, available through the TTS E-learning portal, can be offered as a pre-training introduction, either as re-training package and/or as a stand alone product.

The advantages of working with TTS

With TTS you have the reassurance of working with a world-class organisation that has a total commitment to helping its customers run efficient, safe and profitable businesses.

Here are some of the main benefits:

- All courses meet the charters' requirements on documented product training
- Your personnel will become highly specialised in the latest operator and maintenance techniques
- Maintenance training can be undertaken directly on your own TTS equipment, even whilst the vessel is in operation
- Courses can be tailor made to meet your requirements, with full access to the customised training materials after course completion
- TTS provides maximum flexibility with hands-on training for the crew on location
- Specialised training will increase equipment uptime and reduce unexpected costs of equipment failure. It prolongs your equipment's lifetime by encouraging correct use and efficient maintenance
- Good product knowledge onboard makes it easier to budget for maintenance and ensure cost predictability
- E-learning possibilities

Contact us for more information on how to order training on your TTS crane: training@ttsgroup.com
Together we will prepare training that will meet your requirements.

www.ttsgroup.com